Press Release

Cygnus launches Pre-feasibility Report on Captive power plant projects

Substantial gap between demand and supply of power has been forcing industry to set up captive power plants. In order to help companies and consultants to come up with a bankable project reports, Cygnus Business Consulting and Research launched Pre-Feasibility Report (PFR) on Captive Power Projects.

This report provides information on the overall power scenario in the country, demand and supply of power, captive power scenario in India, steps involved in setting up a captive power plant, capital outlay, profitability and balance sheet analysis. The details include requirement of plant and machinery, tentative cost of project, project financing, revenue and profitability projection, IRR, important financial ratios and breakeven point of the project. In order to do the cost modeling and do the analysis, the report takes the example of 5 MW captive power plant, as a case study. As the spreadsheets are editable, user can change key parameters and input specific cost items as per the specific requirements to arrive at a customized report.

Launching the report, Mr O.R.S.Rao, Director of Cygnus highlighted that PFR is of immense help to banks, entrepreneurs, corporate and Project Consultants not only to prepare project reports but also to validate the costs. PFR on Captive Power Projects is the third in the series of Pre-Feasibility Reports, launched by Cygnus, the other two being in areas of Hotels and Hospitals. "These Pre-feasibility Reports are prepared by Cygnus, leveraging the knowledge acquired, while doing the credit appraisals for Banks", added Mr. Rao.
